IMPORTANT NOTICE TO STUDENTS REGARDING SEX OFFENDERS ON CAMPUS

I want to make you aware that several sex offenders will be attending classes this term. Information that we are allowed, by law, to publicize will be posted on bulletin boards in each building on campus and one is provided in this copy of the "Bandit." In the case of one of the students, we are not allowed to post information about him nor do we have any information. These individuals are required as part of their treatment to disclose their status as sex offenders to their instructors and to their academic advisor. My office has also contacted the instructors and these students' advisors.

Please be cautious, as always, about inviting strangers into your home and make sure that you know very well anyone who is watching your children. Also, College policy prohibits children on campus with certain exceptions. For more information, please refer to the Student Handbook under "Children on Campus."

Important Note: Any posters or communication regarding this issue must come from my office. Copying and placing additional posters around campus or any communication not authorized by my office could be grounds for legal action for privacy violations. In addition, we as a College campus need to ensure that any form of harassment is not directed towards these or any students.

Thank you very much for helping me support a safe campus environment for all students.

Please contact my office at 338-2326 if you have any questions.

Linda Gallino
Dean, Student Services

Public (non-student) gets half an hour, with one renewal. Students, one hour, with one renewal. The renewals will be subject to other people placing reserves on the computers. We'll be using our circulation system to check the machines out like books-- computers will be cataloged. This means someone can place a reserve at the desk. Also, a card will be required to use a library computer, with the exception of one machine in the front area. This will accommodate people who have no ID, or no library card. Time limit will be half an hour, no renewal.
